Lifesaving Initiatives Against Methanol

CONSIDER THIS:

You and your mates on holiday diving off the Gili Islands in Bali
 You enjoy a days diving, and then seek out a bar that looks to sell legitimate spirits to celebrate
 You drink Vodka poured from a legitimate looking racked bottle mixed with lime
 You all have a great night and return to Lombok
 At 0500 the next morning you are in trouble you cant see and you feel very ill, you ask your mates for help, they are also having visual problems
 You are driven to the International Hospital and shortly afterwards become unconscious
 They misdiagnose you and even though an urgent expat retrieval team is sent to transport you to Perth
 It is too late. You die 4 days later in the ICU.

A DRINK TO DIE FROM

Sadly this is a true story, Liam Davies, 19years, dies on the 5/1/2013 as a result of methanol poisoning after consuming what he thought was a genuine Vodka and lime poured from a racked spirit bottle. He and many others were unaware that methanol had been added, purely to increase the volume for profit. This criminal act is misleading even to the most careful of tourists, as in the case of Liam. The tragedy is that the general tourist is unaware of the risks, the signs, and the treatment. Evidence is now being collated that indicates hundreds of tourists and locals have suffered from methanol poisonings ending in death or significant long term effects - these are only the ones we are aware of, many are unaware they have been poisoned. More innocent people will die or suffer the consequences of methanol if no action is taken - this is why the L.I.A.M Foundation was formed.

The L.I.A.M Funds objectives focus on EDUCATION, LIFESAVING and AWARENESS

SO HOW CAN YOU HELP?

Many families internationally have had their lives torn apart as a result of the effects of methanol poisoning, collectively we are able to expose the practise and provide education and raise funds to effectively diagnose and treat victims. To do nothing condones this practise. SO Like us on facebook, donate to help pay for training and education and talk to all your friends and family.
